

The Cosmetic Practice Standards Authority (CPSA) have held workshops for the clinical and practice standards for non-surgical cosmetic procedures (dermal fillers, toxins, skin rejuvenation and lasers) and hair restoration surgery. CPSA have engaged with professionals from across the cosmetic sector and would like to thank all of those who contributed.

The workshops included nominees from: The British Association of Dermatologists (BAD), British Association of Plastic Reconstructive and Aesthetic Surgeons (BAPRAS), British Association of Aesthetic Plastic Surgeons (BAAPS), British Association of Cosmetic Nurses (BACN), British College of Aesthetic Medicine (BCAM), British Association of Hair Restoration Surgery (BAHRS), British Medical Laser Association (BMLA – awaiting confirmation) and the Aesthetic Practice Working Group (APWG) led by Habia.

The standards are currently being drafted and will go out to consultation in September. We look forward to receiving feedback from key stakeholders. Once edited and complete the standards will be passed to the Joint Council of Cosmetic Practitioners (JCCP) to benchmark practitioners and providers.
